

Elevate your supply chain effectiveness

Top five benefits of a complementary freight partner

1

A complementary freight program from Trioise enhances your primary freight management without competing with it.

We take an omni-carrier approach to give you more options to get supplies and medicines where they need to go throughout your entire healthcare ecosystem. This provides you with flexibility to meet any need, compensating for any coverage limitations in your primary freight program.

An effective complementary freight program is easy and quick to implement and start.

We build freight management solutions for clients with a focus on project management, carrier performance, cost allocation, customized reports, and claims management and mitigation. You'll be up-and-running in no time, with our U.S.-based operational excellence teams – including customer service, vendor relations, billing, logistics, pharmacy, and courier – there for you from the start to handle all your needs.

Our technology provides you with a detailed view of shipment status including at-risk, delivered, undelivered, in transit, and out for delivery so you can proactively deal with any issues.

Trioise integrated technology solutions drive efficiency, resiliency, and insights into your supply chain to help you make smarter decisions. Our real time tracking leverages advanced business intelligence to navigate multiple carrier sites, allowing your team to stay ahead of any potential problems to help avoid reships without wasting precious time tracking down lost packages.

4

You'll be able to access more vendors like UPS that aren't available within your primary freight program.

Our strategic partnership with UPS at the hub and driver level and industry relationships with FedEx, DHL, and others allows us to provide nationwide coverage for inbound and outbound shipments covering all 50 states. Additionally, we can reach 94% of zip codes and 98% of businesses in the United States via UPS Next Day Air Early service.¹ More options mean more savings opportunities, all with centralized logistics management.

A complementary freight program allows you to fill the critical gaps in your primary freight program and cover your entire health system with customizable delivery.

We can help cover all your facilities with reliable delivery options, while helping you overcome daily operational challenges related to claims, shipping delays, and hub or driver issues. Our focus on customer support and carrier relationship management for inbound, outbound, and large or specialized shipments gives you visibility into your operations to improve efficiencies and bring focus back to patient care.

Trioise creates resilient and sustainable supply chain solutions. Our patient-centric approach dynamically leverages our expertise and strategic partnerships to deliver custom and intelligent solutions that drive meaningful results for healthcare organizations while creating better patient experiences.
